

RECOMMENDATION

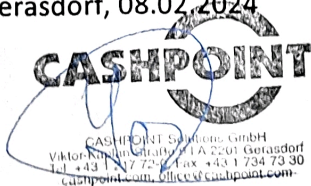

Mr. Daniel VESEL, born on 04.10.1985, residing in 1100 Wien, Fontanastraße 3/7/10 is currently employed as a Senior Business Analyst in the Product Management department of our company.

The tasks of Mr. VESEL include:

- Gather and analyze requirements from various departments such as portfolio management, compliance, product management, or customer service
- Cooperate with countries and sales teams on requirements definition and specification
- Guarantee quality of analytical inputs and own analytical methodology
- Lead small team of business analysts
- Coordinate with the product owner(s) on the backlog and priority of requirements
- Critically evaluate information gathered from various sources and decompose high-level requirements into detailed requirements
- Write business specification documents and manage requirements documentation throughout the software development lifecycle
- Structure and align requirements with development teams, including technical analysis of all requirements
- Ensure requirements compliance as a liaison between business and technical teams
- Contribute to the continuous improvement process for requirements analysis and documentation
- Create and maintain product specification documents for internal release and customer approval
- Assist our developers and testers with requirements management and refinement of stories as well as specifications

In summary it can be noted, that Mr. VESEL is an extremely reliable and loyal employee who always fulfills his work with the most care and precision to our complete satisfaction. He works independently in all relevant areas and distinguished by reliability, resilience, team orientation and friendliness towards supervisors and employees. Besides that he is easily adapting to any changes in process and technology that are necessary to carry out his tasks.

Gerasdorf, 08.02.2024

CASHPOINT Solutions GmbH